Fight the Bite!

Join the 'Swat Team' Against West Nile Virus and other mosquito borne illnesses. The City of New Castle will be cooperating with the State of Delaware Division of Fish & Wildlife to maximize mosquito control in the area in an effort to combat mosquito borne diseases.

The City will aggressively enforce City health codes that require the elimination of standing water, such as in tires or buckets.

Please check your property for areas where mosquitos may breed.

- Stagnant water in birdbaths should be changed every other day.
- Keep gutters and storm drains clear.
- Low-lying depressions in lawn where water can collect should be filled in.
- Clean roof gutters to ensure proper water drainage.
- Consider stocking ponds with fish.
- Open or broken window screens and attic vents offer perfect avenues for mosquitoes to make their way into your home.
- Pool & boat covers can collect water and should be emptied right away. Wading pools need to also be turned over when they are not in use.

Fight
the Bite!

- Toys and other objects around the yard should be stored in an area where they won't collect rainwater.
- Mosquitoes are often attracted to containers of standing water in wheelbarrows or tires that are left outside.
- Leaky faucets should be closed tightly as water build-up can create breeding grounds for mosquitoes.

Protect yourself... Remember to protect yourself from mosquito bites by avoiding outdoor activities during peak mosquito times (dusk to dawn), and by wearing long sleeves and long pants, and/or properly using mosquito repellent. More information and tips are available on our website at newcastlecity.delaware.gov.
